

Legislature

also cited increased funding for road improvements as one of the major accomplishments of the session. He noted that in addition to the Rte. 26 improvements, the highway budget now includes $50,000 for work in the immediate Bethel area, including funds to complete work on Lovers' Lane.

He was also proud of the legislation he sponsored to ease state regulations on hospitals with 50 beds or less. This legislation was introduced at the behest of Stephens Memorial Hospital and was designed to allow the hospital to collect more revenue. Mr. Twitchell said the legislation possibly saved the local hospital from "going down the tubes."

He was also pleased with the health insurance package designed to provide insurance for the working poor. The money for this insurance—$14 million—will be raised by increasing taxes on items such as cigarettes and liquor, a part of the bill that Sen. Twitchell disapproved of. "I'll just drive (Maine residents) to New Hampshire," he said.

The local senator had mixed feelings about the so-called property tax relief bill, which provides $41 million in temporary relief through direct state payments to those local taxpayers whose taxes exceed certain limits. "I'm not too much for 'circuit breakers,'" he said.

Sen. Twitchell was very pleased that the Legislature, presented with evidence that 35-year-old drivers have an inordinately high percentage of auto accidents, raised the driving age to 16, with certain exceptions.

Rep. Luther singled out the omnibus solid waste bill as probably the most important piece of legislation to come out of the session. The bill will make the State responsible for setting up new landfills and will offer cash incentives to municipalities that institute recycling, while penalizing those towns that fail to institute recycling. The bill also expands recycling of containers to include juice, wine and liquor bottles and raises the amount of deposit for recyclable containers. The goal is to have 75 percent of the state's solid waste being recycled by 1992 and 90 percent being recycled by 1994.

Mrs. Luther said of the measures, "I had to come."

The local representative was disappointed in the failure of a number of bills and the watering down of others, including her own bill to restrict the spreading of paper mill sludge. Rather than halting the spreading of the sludge, the "watered-down" version of the bill merely orders the paper mills to spread sludge from their own property and not in their neighborhood so that they can attend public hearings. The bill also restricts sludge spreading to no more than 10 years in any given area. It's paper mill sludge that is spread sludge from often in the same area—thus increasing the toxicity of the spread—a liner would have to be placed under the sludge to prevent it from leaching into the ground. "I got half of what I wanted," Mrs. Luther said.

On another bill she backed—the bill to set standards for color, odor and foam on Maine's rivers—Mrs. Luther got nothing. The bill, which would have forced the paper mills to clean up their discharges, was passed by the House and Senate but vetoed by the Governor. The Legislature could not muster the two-thirds necessary to over-ride his veto. "Maybe next time we can get a rivers bill," Rep. Luther said.

Rep. Mills, who also backed the river bill, predicted that the issue won't die with this legislative session. Controversy over the governor's veto revealed surprisingly strong public support for color-odor-foam controls, he said, so "we could be in for the whole big battle all over again."

Mrs. Luther was also disappointed with the way the Legislature handled the major issues of taxes. "I was kind of disappointed we didn't get tax reform," she said, but expressed some satisfaction in that at least there was some tax relief, albeit temporary.

Mr. Mills noted that the income tax conformity bill, passed during the session, will at least reduce the amount of excess taxes collected by the state.

Mrs. Luther also did not approve of the measure passed that will allow 15-year-olds to work in hotels and motels. The minimum age had been 16 and a study was authorized to determine the effects of lowering the age. She said the Legislature should have held off changing the age until the study is completed, probably by December.

She noted that the Governor's proposal to lengthen the school year failed, and she said she was not surprised because it didn't indicate how education would be improved—just lengthened. She noted that teachers took an active part in lobbying against the longer school year bill, which would have added one day a year for the next five years. "I talked to zero teachers in favor of it," Mrs. Luther said.

Aside from the measures passed, a number of costly items were voted to be placed before the voters as referendum questions. One of them—$45 million for new prison facilities—is just what Maine does not need, according to Rep. Luther. She said the money could be much better used to combat drug abuse so that potential criminal behavior is dealt with before drug abusers get into the court and prison systems. "I would hope we'd look a long time at this," she said.

On the other hand, she was greatly in favor of the $30 million being proposed for the state's vocational-technical institutes, and even hoped that more money would be put into those facilities—not just for classrooms, but for dormitories as well. "You can hardly spend your money better," Rep. Luther said.

Another bond issue would authorize borrowing $10 to $15 million for low-income housing projects. A legislative bill that would have allocated $1 million for this purpose died when the state income projections on which it was based turned out to be too high.

The total amount of bonded indebtedness passed by the Legislature, for final approval or disapproval by the voters, is over $100 million—a figure termed way too high by Governor McKernan. Sen. Twitchell said, "I agree with him." (The final amounts of the proposed bond issues will be reported by The Citizen at a later date.)

The Legislature will next go into session—the second half of the 114th Legislature—next January, in a session that should last into April.

Rep. Luther said of the upcoming session, "I think next time I won't be so surprised by the closing flurry of bills being brought up for voting.... It was really quite frustrating."

Farmers' Market

woman was spinning fur from her angora rabbits and two women were spinning from a sheep's fleece. Skeins of wool and woven pieces were available for sale.

A clown (Debbie Swan) was busy entertaining the children. Rainbows, apples, stars and moons were painted on many faces. Balloons added to the festivities.

The Farmers' Market would like to thank Debbie for her clowning presence; Pool Corner Farm for brush hogging the field, plus the balloons; Johnny Gauthier for mowing the field; the spinners for their informative spinning demonstration; and Frank Wertheim and the ladies at the Oxford County Extension Service.

A lot of work and effort has gone into the Farmer's Market. However, more people with produce to sell are needed. Dues are $10 per year and $1 a day for stall fees. Non-members may come for $5 a day stall fee.

Special crop or quantity requests are encouraged from customers, but they should allow time for planting, growing and harvesting.

Another feature at the Farmers' Market is a discount for senior citizens. The entire market honors this practice, so seniors should inform the vendor they are dealing with about their age.

All the producers' gardens are planted to capacity and as the season progresses more produce will become available. All the crops are grown locally and the members of the market all subscribe to the organic or low-spray method of farming.

matter. The board ruled that the company had failed to provide the town with an accurate and up-to-date list of its property by April 1—as required by law.

Mrs. Rich noted that April 1, 1989 also passed without the town receiving such a list from the company, so MCT's 1989 town taxes will also be based on the original assessment figure.

She said town officials had been confident the state would reject MCT's appeal. That confidence was based, in part, on the similarity of the appeal to one filed a number of years ago by COMSAT, the former owner of the satellite station.

The town also prevailed in that case, and was able to use the COMSAT taxes to establish a trust fund. Last year the fund contributed $54,000 to town coffers.

"It's the same old story," Mrs. Rich said of the appeal. "I don't know what's going on, but it seems to be a game these communication companies play."

She also praised former Selectwoman Laura Hutchins for having urged the town to hire a professional to assess the MCT holdings. That assessment—conducted by David Austin, of Brunswick—gave the town a strong base for its case, she said. "Before that, we were just guessing."

posal, as understood by the selectmen, Mr. Jones would lease land at the airport from the town and then have Danny Gibbs build the hangars, at a cost of approximately $16,000 each. He would then lease the hangars, which would be equipped with water and electricity, to individual pilots. After the builder had recouped his investment, and a suitable profit on his investment, ownership of the hangars would revert to the town.

In other business, the board passed a resolution thanking former Selectman Victor Coolidge for his four years of service on the board. Mr. Coolidge, who lost his seat to Mr. Thurston in the June election, retains his seat on the Board of Assessors.

The board deferred action on awarding a contract for painting of the exterior of the Cole Block because no bids were received.

The board authorized payment of $500 to Frank and Suzi Harrington for excessive use of their septic site. The money is to be paid from the general fund.

The town manager received a legal opinion from the Maine Municipal Association regarding the town's recently enacted noise regulations, within the regulations for live entertainment permits. The MMA opinion raised several issues, such as whether the measurement of noise should be on the property of the entertainment establishment or the property of the complainant, and whether an entertainment permit could be revoked on the basis of repeated complaints without a hearing on the revocation.

The town manager will ask the Noise Committee to come back into session and consider revising the regulations.

Newry Planning Board discusses subdivisions

The Newry Planning Board met July 5 at the Newry Town Office. Bill Stowell, of Land Tech, presented an application for the subdivision of a lot in the Barker Mountain Development. Mr. Stowell was informed that the application was incomplete. Missing from the application were a copy of the property deed, an abutter's address, and notification of the road commissioner. Mr. Stowell rescheduled his appearance for the next regular Planning Board meeting.

Board Chairman Burt Mills informed the membership of a conversation he had with Joan Brooks, of Orono, regarding pest moss septic system filter beds. Ms. Brooks is considered the expert in the application and installation of the pest moss filter technology. This filter bed system has been proposed for use in the Powder Ridge Subdivision in Newry.

The board voted to seek funds from the developers of Powder Ridge to retain Ms. Brooks as a consultant in this matter. The board scheduled its next regular meeting for Aug. 2, at 7 p.m., and agreed to convene after the public hearing on July 17, time permitting.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

Because of the Town Office workload it has been awhile since I have had the time to write this column. As a result, I would like to take this opportunity to update the residents of Bethel on the status of some of the major issues and projects the selectmen and myself have been working on. These include the consent agreement for the lifting of the DEP-imposed moratorium on any new sewer connections, the sewer plant upgrade work, the hiring of a new police chief and the appraisal work for the airport lands.

The selectmen and myself recently met with attorney Geoffrey Hole to review the DEP-proposed consent agreement on the upgrading of the sewer plant and the lifting of the sewer connection moratorium. As a result of this meeting, the town will be preparing a counter-proposal. Some of the obstacles to signing an agreement at this time include the amount of the fine ($35,000) and devising an acceptable plan for disconnecting sump pumps that illegally discharge into the sewer system.

However, even without a signed consent agreement, the town is still proceeding with its plans to upgrade the sewer plant. The engineering design plans and specifications have been reviewed and approved by the town, DEP and the Farmers Home Administration, which is funding the project. We intend to go out to construction bid in July.

The process involved in hiring a new police chief is progressing well. The selection committee, which is composed of the selectmen, town manager and three volunteer citizens, has held two interview sessions with the primary candidates. The process has been democratic as each committee member has had equal voice and vote in selecting the candidates to be interviewed.

This process was put in place so as to ensure that no one committee member could solely influence or disqualify an applicant from being selected for an interview. On behalf of both myself and the selectmen, I would like to thank Arnie Brown, John Elliot and June Greig for their active participation in the selection and interview process.

At a recent selectmen's meeting, the board voted to approve the hiring of Norman Gosline (subject to FAA approval) to perform the appraisals on the lands in the vicinity of the airport that the town will need to acquire either in fee (outright purchase) or in easement. Currently the town needs to acquire 11.01 acres in fee and acquire avigational easements on 15.68 acres. These figures may vary as a result of the appraisals. To date we have acquired avigational easements on 56 acres of land through donations. It is expected that the appraisal work will start in the near future. Mr. Gosline is an experienced and qualified appraiser who has performed similar type fee and easement appraisals for other airports.

The town has recently hired two new employees. Virginia Johnson has been hired to fill the part-time position of Sewer/Ambulance Billing Clerk.

Five Rebels named to MVC all-star squads

Telstar's winning softball team placed two of its members on the Mountain Valley Conference all-star team. Buffi Taylor, who also made the all-star team last year, was again named to the team's outfield.

Kelly Bartlett was named the all-star team's first baseman. She had been a Rebel outfielder until just last year. Telstar also placed three players on the second team—second baseman Mary Beth Hannon, outfielder Jen Bailey and designated hitter Vicki Hutchins.

Virginia worked for Stowell Wood Products for many years.

Rodney Withey has been hired as full-time Equipment Operator/Laborer for the Public Works Department. Mr. Withey recently spent 12 years in the Army. Gary "Tucker" York will continue to work on a part-time basis as the Town mechanic.

Also, Scott Sumner has moved over to the Sewer Department as a full-time employee. He previously worked on a part-time basis for both the Highway Department and the Sewer Department. As a result, we have been able to meet one of the requirements of the DEP consent agreement, which is to have a full-time operator at the sewer plant.

Both the selectmen and myself would like to welcome Virginia and Rodney aboard and to wish them, along with Scott, the best of success in their new jobs.

The June 1989 edition of the "Public Management" magazine includes an article on the column that I write for the Bethel Citizen. The article states how this column is used to better inform the citizens of Bethel on the activities of its local government. "Public Management" is the professional magazine for the International Association of Town and City Managers. We are quite pleased about this recognition for Bethel.

In closing, both the selectmen and myself would like to welcome John Thurston aboard as the newest member of the Board of Selectmen. We look forward to working with him on the important issues facing the town. Already he has been deeply involved in the police chief hiring process. Also, we would like to extend our appreciation to Victor Coolidge for his four years of dedicated and outstanding service on the Board of Selectmen. Victor's good humor, common sense, good judgment and historical knowledge of the area enabled him to make invaluable contributions to the board's discussions and decisions on some of the more important issues that the town has faced. Thank you for a job well done.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

We are now a week into July and so far we have had enough rain and we haven't had the terrible hot weather so it still looks so green and lush and the flowers have been beautiful. The roses are so beautiful, and on the way to Rangeley, in the most unexpected places, one would see a breathtaking old-fashion rose where supposedly an old farm house was years ago.

July 4, Eddie and "Bobby" Gibson Pevear had invited us to go up to their place in Rangeley. James Gibson, Sue and Heather were already there as they had gone up Sunday and pitched their tent. Wilfred and Kim and Ira and Kristen were all here by 8 a.m. to leave. George and "Frankie" left later. We had birthday cakes as three of us were having birthdays, "Bobby," Ira and I.

July 1, Wilfred and Kim came up and spent the night in the back of their pickup and the next day they, Ira and Kristen and Theresa went to Screw Auger Falls. Monday "Frankie," Theresa, Wilfred and Kim Gibson and Karen and Sarah Page went to Santa's Village. Kristin had Frank, me, and George and her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Green and Michael, for Ira's birthday supper July 3. June 23, Bob, Linda, Seth and Jon Howe went for a day hike and picnic in Evans Notch. In the evening they went to Bonanza in Oxford. Seth Howe has started swimming lessons at Songo and his swimming instructor is Monica Burk, of the Sunday River Road.

July 2, Sylvia Benson went to West Leeds to the 50th wedding anniversary of her sister, Helen and Wallace Holloway. On her way she picked up her sisters, Shirley Bonney, of North Paris, and Dot Everett, of Paris Hill. A barbecue cookout was served.

Howard, Mack and Nick Chapman went to their camp on Moosehead for the long weekend.

The Chapmans on the hill have been having a bear getting into their trash. Bob and Ginny Keniston had at their camp on Songo granddaughter Shelby and Josie McKnight, visiting from California; son David, Jody, Heath and Heather, of Norway; son Peter, Stacey and Elise, of Turner; daughter Martha, Glenn, G.M., Jonathan and Deanne Bangs, of Dresden; daughter Becky, Dr. Len Shaw, Jon and Jen. They came Friday to Sunday, pitched tents, all but Bob and Ginny, who brought their camper. They did their cooking outdoors and they also celebrated three birthdays: Martha and Jonathan Bangs and Becky Shaw. Also, David and Jody Keniston's wedding anniversary. Elsie Davis, Ginny's mother, joined the group Sunday afternoon.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine went to Mexico, July 2, to the "Schooner Fare" concert and fireworks and Tuesday to "Adams Country Band" and fireworks in Gorham, N.H. Monday the Angevines took his sister, Mary Deblais, of Shelburne, N.H., to visit her husband who is in the V.A. Hospital, at White River Junction, Vt.

June 24, Ernest and Alberta went to Skowhegan and visited the Margaret Chase Smith museum and visited with Mrs. Smith.

June 30, the Dan Hannon family went to the wedding of Levi Brown and Deedee Grover at their home in Bethel.

Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Gulbrandsen visited their daughter, Karen Bean, and family, July 5.

Justin Shimamura, of Lewiston, is spending some of his summer vacation with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura. Also spending the long weekend was Walter and Carolyn Bond, of Pittsfield, N.H. They all would spend time at Lodgeview Nursing Home in West Paris visiting Thelma Merrill.

Gerry and Justin Shimamura and Carolyn Bond went to the fireworks at Gorham, N.H., July 4. July 5, Sade Kneeland Barrett (her father was Dr. Kneeland who was once a doctor here in Bethel), husband John, met at the Mexican Restaurant for lunch with schoolchums Gerry Shimamura and Lorraine Mills, of Locke Mills. Carolyn Bond joined the group.

Andy Smith took his nephew Adam to the fireworks at Gorham, N.H.

July 3 was Homer and Edie Smith's wedding anniversary and they went out for supper.

Jack and Pat Greig went to Deer Isle for a couple of days over the long weekend.

Ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavers is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.

Mollyockett Day Saturday

The following sponsors have contributed to bring you this page of information about Mollyockett Day.

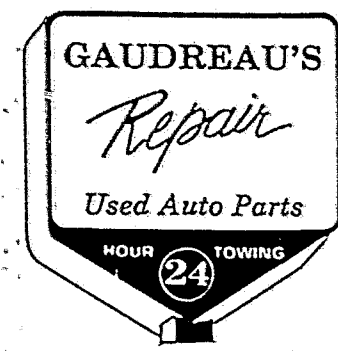

Rotary auction provides good time and good buys night before the big day

The Bethel Rotary Club will hold its second annual auction Friday evening at the Telstar High School cafeteria. The auction will begin promptly at 7 p.m. with the preview beginning at 6 p.m.

This year's auction features a wide variety of objects, from furniture to a big screen television, from toys and antiques to bicycles. Also featured will be thousands of dollars of gift certificates donated by area businesses.

This year's auction is sure to be even more successful than last year's effort, which raised over $3,000 for club-sponsored activities such as "Christmas for Children," the Senior Citizens Christmas party and the Rotary college scholarship program.

Be sure to mark down the date and time. This promises to be an exciting evening with something for everyone. Refreshments will be available.

LEGEND OF MOLLY OCKETT

Molly Ockett, Indian maiden, Loved to roam in every weather; Lived and loved her Indian people In their wigwams on the heather

Lived and mated with Sabbatis On the hills of sloping Bethel; Bore him three dark-skinned babies

Eyes as dark as pansy petals; Molly learned to read and write Learned to talk the white man's way;

Learned to talk the white man's way; Taught them how to kneel and pray Taught them of the loving Spirit

How He sends the sun and rain Provides food for Indian babies Heals their sickness and their pain;

Told them of the roots and herbs. Goes the story of Moll Ockett Visited and helped the sick ones

Put not one penny in her pocket For these little deeds of kindness Only asked the spirits' blessing;

Loved the paleface and their babies, Spoke with gentle voice, confessing Just to hold the white man's children

Marvelled at their eyes so blue Loved their flowing curls so fair And their skin of lightest hue.

Molly Ockett loved the wild woods Bringing back the moose and bear, Searched the mountains for its treasures

Knew of riches buried there. Goes the story how some Indians, In the year of 1755

Buried treasure near an elm tree, Left some traps there for a guide; Later years they found the big elm,

With the traps grown in the tree, And they named the spot Treps Corner Masking legends, history.

Then the white men dugged and rooted Till they gave up in despair; Told how Molly Ockett footed them,

Found no treasure buried there. Once Moll Ockett from Andover On a cold and bitter day

Found herself so tired, weary Paused at Snow Falls on her way; Knocked at every door and pleaded

For a place to lay her head, How they shut their doors upon her, Then this curse upon them said:

In this place you will never prosper For Moll Ockett leaves her curse; Never will you grow in riches

Have no money in your purse; Generations will know your story Time will prove that it is so,

For the good book plainly tells you How to plant and what to sow; I am but a dark-skinned Indian

And I'll travel on my way, Find a pale face with a kind heart That will ask me in to stay.

So to Paris Hill she journeyed To the finest place up there, There they took her in and fed her

Gave to her their tender care; Molly nursed the white man's baby Said a great man it would be,

Blessed it, her words proved prophetic, For later, vice-president was he. When Moll Ockett came to die,

She begged of those around her this request: That they lay her on the green grass On the spot that she loved best;

There her last brief moments ended, Mary Agatha, known as Molly Ockett, Died in Christian faith, August 2, 1816,

The last and great Pequakett.

United Way organizes Oxford County group

United Way of Oxford County was launched recently at a well-attended public meeting, at which the local fundraising group announced its officers and its plans for a fall campaign.

Dick Gleason, owner/manager of WOXX, is the newly elected president of United Way of Oxford County. The other officers of the organization are: Cotton Damon, of Hebron, vice-president; Ed Damon, of Keegan, treasurer; and Donna Smith, of Hebron Academy, secretary.

United Way committees were also named: the Campaign Committee headed by Wendy Gray, of Bethel; the Participating Agency Committee, headed by Paul Bray, of Rumford; and the Communications Committee, headed by Al Barth, of Bethel.

Working with a start-up grant from the Central Maine Power Company, Mr. Adams had a mandate to locate office space, complete legal formalities for the non-profit organization, establish a budget and make plans for the fall campaign.

"Our committees will be working over the summer," Mr. Adams said, "reviewing requests from service organizations throughout the county and gearing up for the campaign. We will be working with major employers in Oxford County to establish payroll deduction options."

The new organization received offers of help from the executive directors of neighboring United Way organizations of

One June 3, Gilbert and Juanita Haines were joined by their family and friends in celebration of their 25th anniversary. The celebration was given by their children, Jody and Edward Deegan, and Louise and Joseph Erskine, at the Town and Country Motor Inn.

July 4th is gone by and not too bad a day, but not too good a one either. Rather cloudy around here but maybe the sun shone other places. I hope everyone had a good day and was able to do what they had planned.

This past week has been a busy one in lots of ways around here. Of course there is always plenty to be done if one wants to do it, but other things have taken place as well.

Went to North Bridgton a week ago today to see the doctor as usual. Have to have a treatment each week to keep going.

Thursday was a day of waiting for me as it was the day my daughter and family were flying home from California after being there for nine days. I had expected they would call when they got home and they didn't so I spent a restless night wondering if all was well. However, got a call in the morning Friday and they got home OK. Made me breathe easier as one never knows what may happen in this life.

They came up and brought back the suitcase they had borrowed and brought me a beautiful wind chime from California and also a lovely tribute to mothers that Nonie found while shopping there. Russell was given a lovely string tie with horses' heads on it, so we were remembered well. It was just good to see them back home and all healthy and good.

Forgot that on Thursday our sister, Laura Hutchins, of East Andover, came to visit. Hadn't seen her for so long I don't remember the last time. We had a good visit, and when Peggy got home from work, Laura went up to visit her for awhile. It was Laura's day off from work and she spent it visiting and we were glad she came.

Went to town on Friday for groceries and errands and Nonie and family were here when we got back.

Saturday was dance night for Russell and Peggy and they went to West Paris Grange Hall. Guess they had a good time but got very tired. They had missed a couple of Saturday nights of dancing so got to get back in the groove, so to speak. Guess they will probably do it all right.

Wynona had called Saturday night to see if she could leave the girls with me on Sunday as she and Mike wanted to go golfing. Of course I said yes, so had both girls for most of the day Sunday. I always enjoy having them with me and they are good for me so no problem at all. Nonie and Mike had their day of golfing and went out to lunch and the girls and I played games and had a good time. Monday night was Grange at Bryant Pond and we all went. Had a good meeting and program. Each took a brown bag with something in it worth at least a quarter and then each was asked to pay a quarter for a bag. We all got different things and it was a fun time as well as a benefit to the Hinkley School, which was to get the money collected.

Tuesday was the 4th of July but not too much happening here, only that we saw a couple of woodchucks in the area and tried to get Lawrence to shoot them as they have gotten into the garden a couple of times. Guess the shirt won't keep them out as it has other varmints. Anyway, nothing seemed to work yesterday morning, so in the afternoon Russell took some clothes and decided to saturate them with gasoline and stuff them in the holes where he thought the woodchucks were and hopefully he has gotten the best of them. We haven't seen them this morning, as yet, and hope we don't. After all the work Russell puts into the garden, he doesn't need trouble from the woodchucks. We haven't had any in the past years since we came here but guess they thought it was time to make up for it this year and have made a good try. We saw these two yesterday and are not sure but there might be a third so have to keep watch. Wish us luck. Recent callers at the Lovejoys were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flanders, of Norway.

The Lovejoys made a dooryard stop at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Pendexter, Sunday, in North Norway.

Hope and Faith Lovejoy, along with Joel Martino, Chad Chase and Karen Yates completed a week of Vacation Bible School at South Paris Baptist Church. The Raymond Macks called on Chris Whittenmore in South Paris and also Tammy Farnum in Bryant Pond last week. Raymond Colby, of Oxford, called on the Macks recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lapointe, of Sabbathus, called on the Macks, Lovejoys and Marcia Baxter on July 4.

There was a good turnout at the dance last Saturday night and I'm sure all had a good time. Keep in mind the next dance at West Paris Grange, on Aug. 5, and hope to see you there.

I wish everyone a good week ahead and hope the 4th was a good one for one and all. Take care.

CARD OF THANKS

To who ever you are, whether it was your job to do or done from the kindness of your heart and respect for an old cemetery, thank you.

We rode out this afternoon (Wednesday) to the York-Felt Cemetery to replace the flags and the stones are in the process of being repaired.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Welcome, to new members, Holiday House, Bed and Breakfast, Bethel; Abolts Mills, Bed and Breakfast, Bryant Pond; and Mainely Fibers, Bethel.

The Chamber is busy preparing for Molykott Day activities. A great group of volunteers have already spent countless hours planning for our events, which we trust will be a big success. Look for us on the Common selling our delicious lobster rolls and drinks, as well as operating an exciting game of chance. Thanks to Paula Gilles and Lynn Hutchins for all their work preparing for this new venture.

Applications are available at the Chamber office and area business for the Molykott Day Classic Road Race, Thursday, July 13, is the cut-off for pre-registration; however, participants have the opportunity to register the morning of the race, July 13, in front of the Bethel Inn, starting at 7:15 a.m. Races start at 8:30 a.m.

Besides all the Molykott Day planning, the Chamber is deeply involved in creating our new brochure. We are accepting space reservations for ads from Chamber members and businesses wishing to become members. Dues have been prorated and are now half-price for the remainder of the year, so it is a great time to join.

We are also planning a cooperative advertising project in the "Maine Guide to Winter."

The Board of Directors will meet for the regularly scheduled monthly meeting tomorrow (Thursday, July 13) at 7:30 a.m. at the Casco Bank. Among the business they'll be discussing is the Big E project. Bill Riley, chairman, is actively seeking volunteers for this great show. Call the Chamber office for further details. We'll also be discussing and voting on the Bethel Area Reservation Service budget.

All interested businesspeople are welcome to attend this meeting.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The annual picnic of the Bethel Historical Society was held this year at the home of Rodney and Geraldine Howe, on Intervale Road. The weather cooperated with bright sunshine, and a slight breeze kept the insect pests under control as those attending sat in front of the family cemetery and took in the magnificent view from that spot looking toward the White Mountains.

During the business portion of the meeting following the picnic, Society President Marvin Ouwinga welcomed members of the Fryeburg Historical Society, who were in attendance at the meeting. Fryeburg Society president Edward Jones spoke about their society's recent reprint of the 1938 Barrows "History of Fryeburg," which is now available in hard cover and printed on acid-free paper. Mr. Jones also invited members of the Bethel Society to attend a meeting of the Fryeburg Historical Society on July 24 where neighboring historical societies would be invited to make a presentation about their particular organization.

President Ouwinga announced that the next Bethel Historical Society meeting would be held on Aug. 3 (the 208th anniversary of Bethel's famed Indian Raid) and feature a presentation by Harold E. L. Prins, Anthropology Department, Colby College, "Romanticism and Maine Indians: Myth and Reality." Dr. Prins' appearance will be supported, in part, by a grant from the Maine Humanities Council. The president also announced that the Maine Old Cemetery Association would hold its summer meeting in Bethel at the Dr. Moses Mason House, on July 22. He also reported that a farewell party for Don and Eddie Eddy would be held in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House on Sunday, July 23, 2-4 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Eddy will be leaving Sunset Farm for Haverford, Pa. on July 31. They were long active in the Bethel Historical Society, serving as trustees and on committees. Dr. Ouwinga also asked any volunteers wishing to help with the Society summer heritage festival, Sudbury Canada Days, to be held this year Aug. 12-13, to see Society Director Stanley R. Howe, or call the Society office, at 824-2908.

During the program portion of the meeting, President Ouwinga thanked the Howes for hosting the Society. Society Director Howe provided some of the background to the history of the property. The farm was the same one that Benjamin Russell, Sr. (1739-1802) and his wife Mary (1738-1808) settled upon in the 1770s when they came from Fryeburg. Since that time six other generations have lived there: 2nd generation, Theodore Russell (1767-1821) and his wife Abigail (1771-1810); 3rd generation, Jonathan Abbott Russell (1783-1859) and his wife Sarah (1791-1864); 4th generation, Samuel Stanley (1816-1890) and his wife Betsy Hale Russell (1822-1866); 5th generation, Orestes Russell Stanley (1852-1943) and his wife Alma (1851-1927); 6th generation, Harold Stanley (1878-1970) and his wife Bessie (1885-1971); 7th generation, Rodney K. Howe (1917-) and his wife Geraldine Stanley (1920-).

Since Benjamin Russell was Bethel's first town clerk, the program focused on Bethel town clerks since 1796. Sheets containing brief biographies of Bethel's 28 town clerks were distributed to those present. Anyone wishing a copy of this hand-out is urged to call the Society office, at 824-2908, or write P.O. Box 12, Bethel 04217.

REMEMBERING BETHEL'S FIRST TOWN CLERK—Descendants of Benjamin Russell Sr., who served as town clerk of Sudbury Canada (now Bethel) from its incorporation in 1796 until 1800, recently placed a memorial at his gravesite on the Russell-Stanley Farm on Middle Intervale Road. Shown at the memorial are Merton Brown, current town clerk; Geraldine Howe, a descendant; and Marvin Ouwinga, president of the Bethel Historical Society.

Since Benjamin and his wife died in the early part of the 18th century, there has never been a suitable marker for them, only a rough field stone. It was decided by members of his family that on the 250th anniversary of his and his wife's birth it would be appropriate to properly mark his grave with a new granite stone emphasizing his unique place in Bethel's past. The monument also records that he was a veteran of the American Revolution. This monument was made possible through donations from descendants of Benjamin and Mary Russell: Donald and Roma Stanley, South Portland; Edward Russell Stanley, Jr., Unity; Edward K. Stanley, Jr., Hacksack, N.J.; Elizabeth Stanley, Milan, N.H., and the family of Geraldine Stanley Howe, Bethel.

Town Clerk Merton Brown made a number of amusing comments about the life of town clerks today. He joined former town clerk Kathryn Eames of Cape Elizabeth, Geraldine Howe, and Marvin Ouwinga in officially dedicating the monument to Benjamin Russell, Sr. and his wife Mary. Nearly 200 years after their deaths they now have properly marked graves.

CARD OF THANKS

Many sincere thanks to my relatives, friends and neighbors that visited me, sent books and magazines and telephoned to inquire about my health and disposition while I was confined with my broken leg. It was all greatly appreciated.

Flood damage can be claimed on IRS returns

Flooding from the severe May 5 rainstorm may mean some taxpayers can claim losses on their tax returns.

On June 7, President Bush declared the Maine counties of Androscoggin, Cumberland, Franklin and Oxford as a major disaster area due to flooding. "When property is damaged or destroyed by flooding, the loss may be deductible on federal income tax returns," said Richard Simko, district director for the IRS in Maine.

"Because the President has declared these four counties as federal disaster areas," said Mr. Simko, "taxpayers who suffered property damage as a result of the flood have the option of claiming casualty loss deductions on the previous year's tax return, or waiting until they file their current year's tax return."

Amending the previous year's return may produce a quick refund, but taxpayers should examine both options to determine which will provide the larger reduction in tax, he said. Representatives of the Internal Revenue Service will answer questions and help prepare tax forms for victims of the May flood at their Auburn and Portland offices.

The IRS advises residents to bring photographs, repair estimates and other documentation of property damage. These will help show the condition and value of the damaged property. Residents should also bring copies of last year's tax return and information for the current tax year to the IRS office.

The Portland office is located at 151 Forest Ave. and is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Auburn office is located at One Great Falls Plaza. It is open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

By COLISTA MORGAN

This week I was surprised by visits from three pupils of years long gone. Two were sisters who came together. The other was a man, who lived in school days on Patch Mountain. I remember well his long daily trips morning and night as he drove his horse with a wagon or a sleigh to school, leaving it in a neighbor's barn for the day, then walking to the school house. We reminisced about this place of stone walls and white pine, Furlong Pond and places still wild and beautiful. All you have to do is go and look. But hurry. They have already carved up some of the old places into quarter-acre plots.

The portal to this little world is known as Patch Mountain—just that.

Off the highway, after you pass a few houses and driveways, you enter woods, and it's better walking than riding.

I have traveled there in all seasons, as did he. Maybe when the land is settling into winter is the best time for scenery. The flush of the spring, the fullness of the summer, the blaze of autumn are left behind. Then the bones of the countryside, the trees and rocks are etched against the sky—a bare and silent season. The pulse of life is slowing, a single black-capped chickadee flies from branch to branch and a gray squirrel ripples up a tree trunk.

It is a somber, pensive kind of landscape, in its black and white, brown and gray, touched by the evergreens clustered above outcrops of gray-black ledges.

We spoke of one of the ledges which hold the prints of deer in its rock surface. And although I have known people who have seen them, I have never found the place.

We talked of other stories of the mountain people and how it got its name.

He told of his fishing in those days as compared to today.

Some of the walls still stand and the old cellar holes remain to tell of the earliest settlers of our town.

Where the farmers left the fields unworked, short-lived plants like dandelions and ragweed took over. Then followed grasses. Gradually they were crowded out by perennial weeds, like asters, goldenrods and brown-eyed Susans. Almost imperceptibly the shrubs and "pioneer" trees moved in, shading the woods.

So time passed and we covered many things. He has retired from a busy life but will recall and marvel about his life on Patch Mountain. That is good because we like to cling to our history in these wild and lovely places, even as the tree clings to the rock.

It was a quiet July 4th here, and a busy one.

My callers were Florence Loughnan and Bertha Cole and Mr. and Mrs.

Lakes Association meets

The Community Lakes Association held its annual meeting Saturday, July 8, at the Woodstock School. Eleanor Wilson, president, brought the meeting to order. Items on the agenda for discussion under old business were water craft safety regulations, water purity, and testing.

The new business on the agenda included the allotment of $400 for the bi-annual water testing of Lake Christopher and North, South and Twichell ponds. The association also voted to become a member of the Audubon Society.

A booth will be set up for Mollycoddett Day to promote the purpose and ideals of the Lakes Association.

July 16-22 has been proclaimed by Governor McKernan as Lakes Week. To celebrate Lakes Week, on July 20, at the Conservation School, in Bryant Pond, the Lakes Association will present a program on acid rain, by Frank Wertheim, followed by a short tape of loon calls and the feature film "Legacy of the Loon." The program begins at 7 p.m.

It predicts thunder showers for every day but, so far, we haven't had any. Maybe tonight.

A lot of family reunions and parties and we've had good weather for them. July 4 we went to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott's for a cookout and a surprise 42nd anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Pinkham, with a corsage for Doris and a boutonniere for Cleon. A delicious anniversary cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher have gone to Nova Scotia, Canada, for several days.

A lot of people are picking strawberries. They are delicious.

Callers have been Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Pinkham, Milne Record and grandson, Joe Kalinowski, Sandra Coffin, Buddy Henderson, Florrie Pascher, Joyce Walker. Joe Vatcher brought in some beet greens that were delicious.

Artland Rogers, Sally and Mary Hold, all of Norway.

Mary Holt stayed with her grandparents one night this week.

Dot Betts was hospitalized for a couple of days. She is better and at home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman had their family at "Maplewood" on July 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mills, my nephew, from Shapleigh, spent Saturday with me.

He dug up my plugged basement drain and he and Leona Holt laid a new pipe.

I was very grateful to have it done before I had another flooded cellar.

By LORRAINE MILLS

The next training session for the Greenwood Fire Department will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 18, at the station. Susan Kneeland Barrett, of Sun City, Ariz., along with her husband, John, Lorraine Mills, of Locke Mills, and Caroline Bond, of New Hampshire, were guests of Gerry Shimamura at lunch at the Mexican restaurant in Bethel, Wednesday.

Suzie, Gerry and I made the Three Musketeers look like strangers to each other when we were young. It was fun to catch up on news of family, friends and other doings and the time together was way too short. Also, saw Marjorie Doyan. Awaiting there with nephew Mark. Have not seen her for 20 years and it was good to renew an old friendship for a few minutes.

There is certainly enough activity going on around town, but no one gets to stop long enough to give me any news and telephones go unanswered. Most of the mill crew were vacation last week. Never includes my husband, but hopefully he'll get some time off in the next couple of three weeks.

The Greenwood beach area is slowly getting ready for use and is being used. Thirty-day tax notices are being prepared at the town office and the help at Bob's are right out straight in another form of taxation (on mind and body). Such is summer. So much for the myth of those "lazy, hazy days."

I was interested in the comments in Bernie Wideman's column. Often he and I don't agree on issues. We really come from two very different points when it comes to values but one thing that is really great about him is that he practices what he preaches—thus I can work for him and still disagree with him—and in his own paper yet.

However, this time when it came to flag burning I was with him. I'm sure I'm as patriotic as the next guy—maybe more so. I grew up in the war years, staunchly supported our armed forces even through the Vietnam years, not necessarily agreeing with the war, but supporting those who chose to fight, nevertheless. The flag is special to me. I burn when it burns. I love this country and think, with all its problems, it's still the best thing going. As I've said before, the plane overhead gave me a sense of pride and admiration, both technologically (some different from those of my early years) and for the men who fly them. But my first thought was: I'd rather someone burn the flag than the person down the street he disagreed with. We've all seen, via television, that happen in other countries. It's like the abortion issue: I supported it when the issue was first raised but I never dreamed it would become another method of birth control, only making it easier for those raped or ill, etc. After seeing the abuses

A NUMBER OF SPINNERS showed off their skills, and their wares, at last Saturday's Farmers' Market. They are Linda Howe, Deb Moulton and Sue Burnham. Marketmaster Kate Slattery observes the work.

I no longer support it—but if abortion is not allowed, free alternatives for birth control have to be made available. You cannot close one door without opening another. If we close the door on flag burning as a protest, what door are we opening? We may not know until it's too late.

Athletic Boosters Club seeks new membership

The Telstar Athletic Boosters Club would like to thank everyone who has helped them throughout the year with their different fund-raising projects. Whether it was donating food or helping to sell the food, your contributions were very helpful.

Loretta and Emmy Merrill donated a lovely quilt and quilt rack which were raffled off on May 31. The winner was Malinda Seames, of Locke Mills.

With the money, the club purchased another bleacher for the athletic fields. The group has now purchased a total of two.

One project for the 1989-90 school year is the purchase of another trophy case. A yearly difficulty this organization faces is the limited number of active members over the past three years. The active members have consisted of five people. And this spring saw the adult graduation of three of these members. The army recruiting poster states "We need you," could be applied very readily here.

Unless the club receives a new infusion of membership the present Booster Club will cease to exist.

The concession stand at the boys' and girls' games are the club's main means of obtaining money. Last season there were eight to 10 people who worked on the concession stands, the club has lost about five of these people and leader Sarah Craig is afraid the group will not be able to have the concession stand this next year.

If you are willing to work a game, call Sarah Craig or Cheryl Elliot. With a good list of names, at least 20, it will be easier to set up a schedule for basketball season. Remember, with boys' and girls' games, there are sometimes four home games a week.

The Boosters Club wants to stay in existence at Telstar and needs your help. Parents who have students in the Junior High or high school should consider joining. The group meets once a month for about a hour or two.

Summer hoop play starts

The summer basketball program in Bethel is now underway at Telstar. Students entering Grades 3 and 4 are playing on Monday and Wednesday mornings, from 9:10-9:30 a.m. Students entering Grades 5 and 6 are playing from 9:11 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Girls who are entering Grades 7-12 are playing on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6-8.

If you have signed up to play, don't forget to come. Or if you would like to play, come on the appropriate time and day. The programs will run until July 27.

Safe And Effective Expectorant

Expectorants are medicines which loosen sputum (phlegm) in the lungs. Expectorants may also increase sputum volume and the ease with which sputum is removed from the lungs during episodes of coughing.

Because of a lack of definite findings as to the exact actions of expectorants, there has been some disagreement in the past as to the therapeutic value of expectorants. Recently, however, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) announced that one ingredient had been found to be safe and effective as an expectorant through its effect of increasing sputum volume. The ingredient is guaifenesin, the most widely used ingredient in nonprescription cough and cold medicines. Products containing other expectorant ingredients have a period of time during which they can be reformulated.

Guaifenesin is also approved as a prescription drug for use by individuals who have chronic bronchitis, to help loosen lung sputum and thin bronchial secretions.

Persistent coughs of more than one week, accompanied by other symptoms (such as fever or rash) should be evaluated by a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway went to Prince Edward Island Thursday, June 22, in their motor home. They went to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grover, from West Sumner, who have a summer camp on the coast. The Hathaways returned home Sunday night by driving 12 hours, starting at 6 a.m. The weather was good in the provinces and along the coast.

An outdoor birthday party was held for Belva Burnham June 30, on her 94 years, at Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burnham's home. There were 25 relatives present. The traditional birthday cake and ice cream were served with sandwiches and other fixings on the side.

Mr. and Mrs. Gorham Wilbur, of Santa Rosa, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Burnham's brother. Her sister, Esther Milonas, and cousin Grace Armstein, of Conway, N.H., also were visitors Monday.

I would like to have the burning of our flag explained more. I have always understood if the flag was worn out it should be burned, but that didn't mean that it was right to walk on, spit on or burn our flag that was in good condition out of spite and hate of our country. Let us have an explanation in plain English.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews, from Bridgton, called on me Saturday afternoon.

Esther Davis, Edith Deegan, Patricia Bibbets, Phyllis Love and Phyllis Stevens took a cruise down through Songo Locks July 2. They reported a lot of small boats on the river, too.

The Willing Workers held a meeting June 29 with five members present. The activities for the summer were discussed and plans made for the same. More on that later.

NEW PEDIATRICIAN IN NORWAY

Dr. William T. Whitney has announced that Romulo D. Guzman will associate with him in the practice of pediatrics. Dr. Guzman will open his general pediatric practice on Monday, July 24, in the Medical Arts Building at 17 Winter St., in Norway, and will be taking new patients at that time.

Dr. Guzman is a graduate of the University of Cuenca Medical School in Ecuador. He completed internships in medicine and surgery at Social Security Hospital in Cuenca and in OB/GYN and pediatrics at Civil Hospital, also in Cuenca. Dr. Guzman worked as a rural doctor in the Province of Azuay, Ecuador, and received the Ecuadorian Government Diploma, an award for his efforts in developing and improving health centers in rural areas. After completing his residency he set up a private practice in Cuenca.

In 1980, Dr. Guzman came to the United States and has worked at several hospitals. He has just completed a three-year residency program in pediatrics at the Lutheran Medical Center of Brooklyn, N.Y. The credentials committee of Stephens Memorial Hospital has granted Dr. Guzman privileges and he will become a member of the medical staff upon arrival.

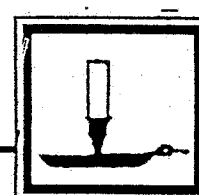

Dr. Whitney is pleased to have Dr. Guzman join him in providing health care for the children of the Oxford Hills area and given the rapid growth of the area, the area's newest doctor will have plenty of work and opportunity.

Dr. Guzman said he is looking forward to living in Maine and that he is very comfortable with the prospect of living in a much more rural area than New York City.

Highway deaths down

According to a recent report issued by the Bureau of Safety, Maine highway fatalities are down for the first six months of 1989.

The monthly report stated that 91 people died in motor vehicle crashes through June 30—27 less than for the same period in 1988 (118) and six less than the five year average (97). "In comparison, it appears that we are doing relatively well, but we must keep in mind that 1988 was the worst year for highway fatalities since 1980," said Glenys Lovett, co-chairperson of the Maine Highway Safety Commission.

Alcohol involvement is also down. In 1988, alcohol involvement was reported in 35.6 percent of all fatalities. So far this year, it was reported in only 25.3 percent of the deaths.

June's 13 fatalities reflect a 50 percent decrease in the five-year average of 26.4 deaths and a substantial reduction from June of 1988 when 31 fatalities were recorded.

If you like Maine you'll love this collection of 52 essays by Colista Morgan, the Greenwood City correspondent of The Bethel Citizen

The essays cover every season of the year, as seen in the hills and on the rivers and ponds of Greenwood. It's all here — the animals, the earth & trees, the weather, the sky changes — all presented in Mrs. Morgan's graceful and informal style.

Ask a lawyer...

Can you be land-locked in the State of Maine? Can an access be shut off after being used for over 40 years? This is a common problem in Oxford County.

The answer to your first question is "no." This may sound simple, but it isn't. Legally speaking, a parcel is land-locked only if there is absolutely no access and absolutely no possibility of access to it without trespassing on someone else's land. This rule survives from ancient times and it means that every parcel of land has access from somewhere, by what is called an "easement by necessity."

It does not mean, however, that such access is the one the owner of the parcel served by the easement would choose. The right to use a particular access does not arise simply because other possible means of access are inconvenient or expensive (even prohibitively expensive). As a result, easements by necessity are more frequently sought than obtained. Very often, an owner seeking such an easement is dismayed when the court sees as mere inconvenience what the landowner considers dire necessity because of the expense or other difficulty of developing some other means of access.

Any landowner seeking court confirmation of such an easement should remember that if the court finds that another access is possible (whatever difficulties it may present) no easement by necessity will likely be found.

Your second question deals with the so-called "easement by prescription." This has nothing to do with the availability of alternatives, but is instead based upon use. Like the easement by necessity, however, it only arises in highly limited circumstances. Basically, the person claiming it must show (1) that he or his predecessors in title have used the easement continuously and without interruption for more than 20 years, (2) that the owner of the land which the easement crosses has known about the use of the easement during this time and (3) that this owner has done nothing to stop use of the easement. These requirements must be met fully and exactly, or the claim will fail. If, for example, a right-of-way was used continuously from 1940 to 1975, not used from 1975 to 1980, then S. McGuire, of Bethel, was one of 484 seniors who received bachelor of arts degrees at Colby College in Waterville on May 22. McGuire graduated with a degree in History.

More than 3,000 well-wishers gathered on the scenic Miller Library lawn as President William E. Colter presented McGuire with a diploma and presided over the two-hour ceremony that capped a busy commencement weekend for the Class of 1989 and their families and friends.

The Historical Society will hold their next meeting on Monday, July 17, at Bob and Beverly Glines' cottage on North Pond, Locke Mills. Each one bring their own picnic supper. A grill will be available.

The Extension Line...

To preserve the bounty of the summer harvest, it is critical to know that newer research has found many of the techniques formerly used in home canning are no longer adequate for safe food. The prevalence of new types of bacteria and many new plant varieties mean that methods that were once safe to use are no longer acceptable.
While botulism is always a potential problem in improperly canned foods, there are a number of other types of food poisoning that can occur if normally present plant and/or soil bacteria are not destroyed. For example, all pickled vegetables and jellies need to be water-bath canned to seal the jars; and the pressure processing times for many vegetables have been extended to ensure safety.
Extension has new fact sheets on the latest information for canning the following items: corn, tomatoes, leafy greens (such as spinach, beet greens, dandelion greens), peppers (sweet, hot), snap beans, peas, cherries, apples, strawberries, jams, jellies and spreads, pickles, and sauerkraut.
To receive any of these new fact sheets, send a list of the particular fruits and/or vegetables you intend to can, along with your name and mailing address to: Wendy Legg Follock, Extension educator, R.F.D. 2, Box 1735, South Paris, 04281.
Is your pressure canner in good working order? If the canner has a needle dial gauge that registers the pressure, it should be tested for accuracy annually. Sometimes moisture gets into the dial gauge and causes the mechanism to read a bit or the needle does not register properly. Each Extension Office has a device to test the accuracy of this type of canner gauge. Bring in the lid, or just the dial if you can unscrew it, to be tested to be certain you will be canning your food at 10 pounds of pressure as intended.
Canners with weight-type gauges do not require testing because these are permanently accurate; however, it is very important to keep the little hole in the jet clean and clear in the weighted gauge. If the canner is one that has a rubber gasket, check to be sure it is still soft and flexible. A cracked, stiff gasket may need replacement. The usefulness of the gasket may be tested by adding about two inches of water to the canner and putting the lid on, heating over high heat,

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Life is full of challenges. We learn this early in life; at an early age children engage in games that offer competition, and although these games would seem to be classified as sports, yet it seems a strong desire in most to be a winner, to be a little better at the game than the other players are.

Perhaps to run a little faster, or to do a few more pushups than your playmates can.

As children grow older the sports become more competitive, and the desire to win increases.

Often times, too, the winning becomes more rewarding—perhaps our team will win a trophy, names and pictures in the paper, even perhaps on TV.

Even during this time we face other challenges as well: some take us by surprise, even perhaps on TV.

GENA MORGAN AT HEBRON

Gena Morgan, a Junior at Telstar, is currently attending Hebron Academy for a five-week Math/Science Scholars Program. She is the daughter of Kelly Olson Vasick, of Bethel, and Dana Morgan, of West Paris.

Gena is among 17 students from 13 junior and senior high schools around the state. Students were selected based on their grade point averages and application essays.

Some of the activities students are involved in, beside class work, are trips to Maine Yankee, the IP plant in Jay, the Maine Maritime Academy, the Boston Museum of Science, hunting for gems, a hike to Spect Mtn., plus listening to guest speakers from different colleges.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN UNITED
The next meeting of Christian Women United will be Tuesday, July 18, at the Country Way Restaurant, in South Paris, with luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Ruth Marston, of Portland, will be the guest speaker. The music will be furnished by Mona Irish.

Those wishing to attend should call Leora Whitney, at 743-7221, or Anita Rogers, at 743-5155, before this Friday.

DEAN'S LIST AT USM
Nancy L. Lyons, of Hanover, Katherine J. Hunt, of West Paris, and Martin A. Lessault, of West Paris, have been named to the University of Southern Maine dean's list for the 1989 spring semester.

To be named students must earn a grade point average of 3.2 or above and carry a minimum of 12 credit hours.

praise that Jesus heard after his baptism, "This is my beloved son in whom I am well pleased." St. Mat. 3:17

When we think of discouraging challenges in life, let us find help in the story of David's challenge with the giant Goliath. David faced the giant who was armed with sword, spear and shield, armed only with a sling—and in the name of the Lord. And by God's help was victorious.

Thus let us face life's challenges, with our faith, trust and hope in the name of the Lord.

Rainey murder trial not likely before fall

It will probably be at least this fall before Gary Rainey faces trial for the murder of his stepdaughter Kimberly Shriver, 29, and her boyfriend Christopher Greska, 31, both of Bethel. Mr. Rainey, formerly of Locke Mills, has been charged with shooting and beating the couple to death on Oct. 22, 1988 at their home off the Middle Intervale Road. The accused man has also been charged with attempting to murder his stepson, Barry Coolidge, 27, of Locke Mills. Mr. Coolidge was shot several times with the same .22 caliber handgun that was used later the same day to kill the Bethel couple. Mr. Coolidge was hospitalized for more than two weeks, but has largely recovered from his wounds. According to police investigators, the shooting spree was apparently triggered by a real estate dispute between Mr. Rainey and his estranged wife Madelyn. Upon learning that his stepson had recently moved into the disputed house, on Bird Hill Road in Locke Mills, Mr. Rainey allegedly went to the house, confronted and shot Mr. Coolidge, then drove to Bethel, where he murdered the young couple. Mr. Rainey is currently being held without bail at the Maine State Prison in Thomaston. State Assistant Attorney General Eric Wright said that the prosecution is tentatively looking toward a trial date in September or October.

The money will be used to help send teams of nurses to the Dominican Republic to provide patient care to the poor, serve as role models for local nurses, provide training workshops and seminars, provide medical supplies, teach such subjects as nutrition, basic hygiene and childcare and promote crosscultural understanding between the people of the Dominican Republic, the United States and Canada. Monies raised will be matched by Rotary International's Foundation, making available a total of $80,000 for the project.
